

EAT, DRINK, AND SUPPORT PROVIDENCE!

PROVIDENCE HEALTH FOUNDATION is excited to host its 7th Annual Providence Uncorked!, a culinary celebration that helps provide quality healthcare to all in our community, regardless of their ability to pay.

At Uncorked! we invite some of the District's finest chefs to join us and show their skills in a cooking-competition format. In doing so each chef will prepare dishes for all attendees to taste, judge, and cast their vote to determine who will be named this year's Providence Uncorked Champion! While sampling each selection, guests will enjoy beer and wine donated by neighboring vendors, and mix-and-mingle with over 175 business and healthcare professionals, our corporate partners, members of our board, and local personalities. Once again joining us as our event's culinary ambassador is former Next Food Network Star contestant Chef Alex McCoy, executive chef and owner of DC's Alfies and Lucky Buns.

Ticket sales and event sponsorships generate much-needed funds to support Providence's areas of greatest need, including scholarships to further the education and certification for our nurses through our Nurse Education Initiative, or to provide necessary structural updates to our facility in order to ensure our patients receive holistic compassionate care in a safe and comforting environment.
